Nick Allen from Bloor Homes came into school to talk to the students about careers within the Construction industry. This was mainly related to the types of services they use within the house building industry. He spoke about the qualifications they may need and mentioned the types of services used such as Labourers all the way through to office staff which are also crucial to the running of the business. He spoke about apprenticeships they offer within Bloor homes. He mentioned that they have contracts running up until 2024 highlighting it is a booming industry and a good one for a school leaver to enter for employment. Students asked relevant questions and were interested in what Nick had to say. Nick gave out Goodie bags and staff asked him if he would be willing to come in as part of a “try a trade day”. He thought this was a good idea and is willing to accommodate this request. A successful employer visit.
